Every day 24 people in Sussex hear the devastating news they have cancer.

Cancer affects us all but we can all help to make people’s experience of it better. With your help Macmillan supports a growing number of new services in Sussex including:

- Macmillan lead acute oncologist nurses working across the Western Sussex Hospital Trust. There is a Macmillan acute oncologist nurse in Worthing & another in Chichester.
- A Macmillan dietitian at Western Sussex Hospitals NHS Foundation Trust, who will support people living in the Chichester area.
- A Macmillan Lung Cancer Nurse Specialist for the Chichester area. Altogether there are 10 Macmillan nurses based at St Richards.
- Midhurst Macmillan Specialist Palliative Care Service in West Sussex, leading the way in their field now an exemplar for further options.
- 240 people in West Sussex received grants for practical help, totalling £72,435 in 2014.
- Information Centre personnel at St Richards Hospital provide contacts for local facilities.
